Contingency budgets could harm programs

by Michael Kuo

Presidents of three Board of Governors universities said Wednesday that programs might suffer from the implementation of contingency budget plans.

The BOG required universities to submit contingency plans to reflect possible 2, 4, 6 or 8 percent budget cuts during Fiscal Year 1984.

Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin presented Eastern's contingency plans March 10 to the Council on University Planning and Budgeting.

He said the university could withstand a 2 percent cut if it became necessary, but beyond that, programs would have to be cut and positions eliminated as well as a total reorganization of how Eastern operates.

Presidents at other BOG schools echoed Marvin's statements concerning the contingency plans.

Governor's State University President Leo Goodman-Malamuth II said "some programs may have to go" at Governor's State if the university's contingency plans are implemented.

However, Goodman-Malamuth declined to mention specific programs at Governor's State that might suffer.

Western Illinois University President Leslie Malpass also said some university programs, such as teacher option programs, could suffer if further budget cuts are required.

Other programs could be shifted and combined, Malpass added. "We have cited several programs for intensive review next year with an eye for turn around."

Chicago State University President George Ayers also said cuts in some academic programs could occur if the contingency plans are implemented, although the "main thing that will be

Pfeiffer: firing of planner came at a bad time

by Elise Dinquel

The firing of Charleston City Planner Larry Stoever by the city council Tuesday "couldn't have come at a worse time," Mayor Clancy Pfeiffer said Wednesday.

The city council voted Tuesday to fire Stoever, who has been city planner for 10 years, after commissioner John Beusch asked the council to relieve Stoever of his duties.

Pfeiffer said firing the city planner comes at a bad time because Stoever was preparing the city's budget, which must be completed by 90 days past the end of the fiscal year, which ends April 30.

Pfeiffer said the council will meet at 5:30 p.m. Friday to discuss hiring a new planner.

"I can't say how long it will take before we hire a new person," Pfeiffer said. "We need to get someone else in as soon as possible, but not so quickly that he isn't the right person for the job."

Beusch said he would like to see a revision of the position's job description because it is currently "too broad" and "it approaches that of a city manager."

"My opinion is that we don't want a city manager," Beusch said. "We want a fiscal person—someone to coordinate the financial aspects of the different departments."

Beusch said current responsibilities of the city planner include working directly with the board of zoning appeals and planning, making up the budget and "doing anything else the mayor might ask him to do."

Beusch added, "There's never a good time (to fire the city planner), but I'm confident we'll be able to meet all of our obligations. We can get help from outside sources, and we already have contacted our auditors."

Although Stoever said he was not surprised the council's decision was unanimous, both Pfeiffer and Beusch said they were surprised at commissioner Olga Durham's yes vote.

"Other council members had approached me about this matter, but I hadn't heard anything from (Durham), and I wasn't aware she was unhappy with (Stoever's) performance," Pfeiffer said.

Durham said Wednesday night that she reluctantly voted yes to put Stoever out of the "state of torture" he was in.

"As I look back, I probably shouldn't have voted yes, but I felt (Stoever) was being persecuted—not in a physical sense—but he was being intimidated by some council members," Durham said. "He was in a state of turmoil, and I wanted to end that for him."

Durham added she thought Stoever had done "an excellent job" as city planner and that his problems with other council members were caused by a lack of communication.

The council's action followed an incident last week in which Stoever publicly apologized for criticizing the council's appointment of Jim Wickham to fill a position vacated when Pfeiffer was named mayor.

Stoever had criticized the council for appointing Wickham, an executive with Illinois Consolidated Telephone Company, because he was concerned about a possible violation of a state statute forbidding utility officials from serving in city governments.

Asked if he believed the council's action was caused only by his criticism of Wickham's appointment, Stoever said there was "no question about it."

However, Pfeiffer and Beusch said a number of past incidents, the most recent of which was over a lease agreement for office space in the Municipal Building at 520 Jackson, led up to the council's deci-

BOG schools require health service fee

(Editor's note: The following article is the seventh in a series of nine stories detailing costs and uses of Eastern's student fees.)

by Crystal Schrof

All Board of Governor schools' students are required to pay a health insurance fee, with full-time Eastern students currently paying $25.60 per semester for insurance.

Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams said recently that all BOG schools' student health insurance plans are covered by Guarantee Trust Life Insurance Company.

By having all BOG schools covered by the same company, student insurance can be offered at a reduced rate, Williams said.

However, he added he is not sure at this time whether there will be an increase for fiscal year 1984 health insurance.

Williams said the health insurance program is designed to help students pay for medical treatment since most students do not have adequate health insurance.

It's your money

As stated in Eastern's health insurance policy brochure, the health insurance plan "is intended to supplement and complement services normally available to students through the University Student Health Service in order that they may be protected at times when this service does not apply and for accidents and sickness which it does not cover."

However, students who have comparable or better health insurance than what is offered by Eastern can obtain an insurance refund.

Williams said students must demonstrate that their insurance is comparable to the university's plan by obtaining an insurance affidavit from the company with which they are insured.

Students who desire a refund must complete a form requesting the refund at the Office of Financial Aid in the Student Services Building.

Eastern's health insurance program will cover 100 percent a student's first $500 of expenses for hospital room and board. Also, the policy covers 80 percent of room and board after the first $500. The policy also covers dental expenses up to $100 per injured tooth.

However, the policy does not cover expenses for eye examination, dental treatment, except that made necessary by injury, and treatment rendered by the Health Service.

Seniors to be fitted for caps, gowns

Graduating seniors will have to face yet another requirement before they will be allowed to graduate—getting measured for caps and gowns.

Seniors should report to the Union Business Operations Office between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. March 18 or 25 to be measured, Cathy Gregg, business operations secretary, said Wednesday.

"Anyone graduating in May can come in on either day any time during the specified hours. If for any reason a person can't make it on the designated dates, that person should notify me before March 25," she said.

Grenade blast injures Marines

A grenade hurled at a U.S. Marine patrol in Lebanon wounded five Marines in the arms and legs Wednesday, 10 hours after gunmen ambushed and wounded eight Italian soldiers a mile away.

The Marines suffered superficial shrapnel wounds, but two of the Italians were paralyzed and one had his foot amputated in surgery.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said the attack on the Marines "appears to be an isolated incident. It's unfortunate."

Teachers expecting pink slips

Slashed state funding for elementary and secondary schools is releasing a flood of pink slips that may be mailed to as many as 10 percent of Illinois' public-school teachers, education officials said Wednesday.

The actions being taken by local school boards may mean that between 10,000 and 12,000 of the states' approximately 100,000 teachers will be unemployed next fall, according to estimates by the state's two major teachers' unions.

EPA director denies aiding Dow

CHICAGO—Comments critical of Dow Chemical Co.'s handling of a dangerous chemical were deleted from a federal Environmental Protection Agency report on orders from a Washington official, Kathy Brown, public affairs director of the Chicago EPA region said Wednesday.

In Washington on Wednesday, John W. Hernandez Jr., acting EPA administrator, said in congressional testimony the he allowed Dow "in good faith" to review the original draft but denied ordering deletion of unfavorable references.

Jobs package stalls in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $5.1 billion recession relief bill was left dangling Wednesday in the Senate as neither side of a proposed amendment to repeal tax withholding on interest income could muster the votes to break their bitter dispute and clear the emergency jobs package for final action.

On one hand, Senate leaders blocked by a single vote a freshman's attempt to force a showdown on the withholding repeal. On the other, Sen. Bob Kasten, R-Wis., prevailed by 10 votes when the leadership tried a parliamentary gambit to cast his amendment aside.

President Reagan has vowed to veto the jobs bill if the withholding repeal is attached.

After the two indecisive votes, Majority Leader Howard Baker Jr., R-Tenn., put off any further attempts to break the legislative gridlock until Friday. Among other major provisions, the bill authorizes loan money without several states say they cannot continue to issue unemployment checks.

Kasten still appeared to hold the aces, despite the claim of Sen. Robert J. Dole, chairman of the Finance Committee, that "I think we held off the banker's lobby" by forestalling action on whether to repeal the new 10 percent withholding requirement for dividend and interest income. Dole, R-Kan., has been the point man for Reagan and the leadership of both parties in trying to preserve the 1983 change, enacted last year.

Both sides needed 60 of the Senate's 100 votes in the parliamentary battles waged Wednesday; neither succeeded. But Kasten showed his strength when he failed by just one vote, 59-39, on a motion aimed at ending stalling tactics and forcing an up-or-down test of the withholding issue. If he gets that, he will need only a simple majority for passage.

Byrne to enter race as write-in CHICAGO (AP)—Jane M. Byrne turned her back on Democratic nominee Harold Washington on Wednesday, announcing she will run as a write-in in an "uphill battle" to keep her job as mayor of the nation's second-largest city.

Washington, a two-term congressman, assailed the mayor's decision as a ploy to find a way to pay off political debts. He said he hoped Byrne would "reconsider and back out gracefully."

Republican Bernard Epton, whose candidacy has thrived amid reluctance by white Democrats to support Washington's bid to become Chicago's first black mayor, said: "It certainly won't make the job of winning any easier."

The Democratic National Party labeled Byrne's decision a betrayal and termed her write-in effort "mischievous and hopeless." The state Democratic Party also reaffirmed its support for Washington.

Byrne was upset Feb. 22 in her bid for the Democratic nomination to a second term. She ran second in a three-way race against Washington and State's Attorney Richard M. Daley, son of the city's late mayor.

The next day, Byrne said she would support Washington.

CAA to study grade plan

by Sheila Billerbeck

A proposal to replace Eastern's current pass-fail policy with a credit/no credit system will be questioned Thursday by the Council on Academic Affairs.

CAA member Sharon Bartling proposed a credit/no credit option as an alternative to the revisions suggested for the pass-fail option. The revisions were voted down by CAA members two weeks ago.

Under the credit/no credit system, students receiving a grade of A, B or C would have CR (credit) recorded on their transcripts, while students earning a D or F would receive NO CR (no credit) for the course.

David Buchanan, CAA chairman, said both students and faculty will question Bartling's proposal at the meeting. Whether actual voting on the proposal will take place is uncertain, Buchanan said.

"This proposal is quite different than the ones we have previously heard," Buchanan said. "I don't know if the council feels they have enough information on the proposal to vote on it."

Buchanan added that action on the proposal was delayed until the council received reactions from both students and faculty on it.

"We didn't want to vote until the campus community was informed on the issue," Buchanan said. "We wanted to hear their input."

In other business, the CAA will review possible additions to microcomputer course guidelines to ensure new computer courses meet exact requirements, Buchanan added.

The Council on Academic Affairs will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Arcola-Tuscola room of the Union addition.

Marvin may choose to nix CAA credit/no credit plan

by Keith Clark

Student Senate Speaker Glenn Good said Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin has indicated he may use his veto power if the Council on Academic Affairs passes a proposed credit/no credit proposal.

Good, reporting to the Student Senate Wednesday on a recent meeting he had with Marvin, said that although Marvin stated he has not had time to fully review the proposed credit/no credit plan, he will discuss the matter with Stanley Rives, provost and vice president for academic affairs.

The credit/no credit plan would replace Eastern's current pass-fail option and would give students credit hours for a grade of C and above in a class they elect to credit/no credit. Students would receive no credit for a grade of D or F.

Marvin is concerned that the implementation of the credit/no credit option will have a negative impact on enrollment, Good said.

With Eastern's enrollment already declining, Marvin believes, the proposal will make it harder to recruit new students, Good added.

Good said Marvin encouraged students to work constructively against the proposal, including writing letters to The Daily Eastern News to show disapproval for the proposal.

Marvin also believes students were "snubbed" by the CAA when it discussed a proposal calling for extension of the pass-fail deadline from two to 10 days.

"He (Marvin) could agree there was some legitimacy to the 10-day pass-fail option," Good said.

Fraternity to provide energy awareness presentation

by Jan Genis

Methods that can be used to improve or stabilize the environment will be presented on "Bright Day" Thursday, as part of Beta Tau Upsilon's week-long energy awareness promotion.

Mike Bernauer, president of BTU, Eastern's professional energy management fraternity, said the purpose of Bright Day is "to bring attention to a brighter future that can be had if the United States will continue to diversify its energy resource days."

He added that BTU's overall purpose is to encourage the advancement of energy management, conservation and development of all alternative energy resources as well as examining the biological and environmental aspects of energy.

BTU members will distribute flyers concentrating on energy improvements at an energy exhibit which is located at the lower north entrance of Booth Library. Bernauer said some energy improvement methods that will be explained on the flyers include synfuel development, solar energy and coal gasification.

Synfuel development, the mixture of synthetics and fuel, "will help to replace depleting petroleum reserves," Bernauer said.

In addition, solar energy and coal gasification, the turning of coal into gas, will contribute to a cleaner environment, he said.

"Coal gasification will allow a greater use of coal without doing additional damage to the environment," Bernauer said.

"Also, solar energy offers us a clean source of usable energy and a greater use of energy management and conservation," he added.

Solar energy also allows a cleaner environment, produces jobs and increases productivity, Bernauer said.

Bernauer added the United States should lead the way in energy conservation "by reducing its dependence on foreign oil, developing new technologies and contributing towards a more stable environment market place."

Stoever's dismissal was dirty politics

Editorial

In the last two weeks, Mayor Clancy Pfeiffer and the Charleston City Council have managed to track political dirt into the city's council chambers.

Pfeiffer and the council have followed their questionable appointment of James Wickham to the position of accounts and finance commissioner with the firing of City Planner Larry Stoever.

Stoever, who has held the position of city planner for the past 10 years, was fired from the position Tuesday by a unanimous council vote.

The reasons behind Stoever's dismissal are unclear. Although council member John Beusch expressed concern about Stoever's "eroding confidence" in the council, another council member, Olga Durham, said she believes Stoever has done a good job as city planner.

Why then was Stoever fired? It appears that Stoever's public criticism of Wickham's appointment was the main reason for his dismissal.

Stoever spoke out against the appointment of Wickham, who is director of engineering and planning for the Illinois Consolidated Telephone Company, because the appointment might be a direct violation of a state statute which prohibits any official of a public utility from holding the position of mayor or commissioner.

It seems then that Stoever was fired for disagreeing with the council. If so, the council may need to review the United States Constitution which, under the First Amendment, allows every American the right to free speech.

Stoever has the right, like any other private citizen, to comment on the political dealings of this city and to speak out against what he believes is wrong with those dealings without being punished for his comments.

Even though he was speaking out against something he believes might be illegal and may cause more harm than good, Stoever made an agreement with Pfeiffer to publicly apologize for his comments and did so.

Although the mayor was satisfied with the apology, other council members apparently were not. And Pfeiffer chose to vote along with them on Stoever's dismissal.

So, even though Stoever complied with Pfeiffer's wishes, he was still fired, an action which makes one wonder how fair our new mayor will be to others in the future.

And the future is what we are worried about. If the council continues to make the type of hasty, unresearched and irrational decisions it has made in the last two weeks, Charleston could be in a lot of trouble.

Your turn

Is Quad under seige?

Editor:

This is an open letter to all South Quad show-offs:

I'd like to thank you men who nearly decapitated me yesterday with your run-away frisbee. (And thanks for the apology I never received.)

Because of inconsiderate frisbee, baseball and football players, the South Quad has become a battle-zone. Innocent passers-by have to dodge the barrage of flying ornaments to avoid getting hit.

Listen, boys, you're not impressing me or any other females by assaulting them with your weapons. We have the right to use the sidewalks unhampered by your games, and you are responsible for your own "toys."

Pedestrians deserve the consideration of a safe walk-way! If you players have bad aim or tend to overthrow your toys, take them over to the fields by Lantz.

Canteen needs toilets

Editor:

After 10 p.m. the canteen is the only place provided by the university for students to study. It's not a bad place to study late or to pull an occasional all-nighter. You can buy coffee, soda and assorted munchies. What else does one need?

Personally, I can handle approximately one soda and two cups of coffee and after half an hour, I start looking around for relief. But there are no restrooms in the canteen.

The Union closes at 11 p.m. At this time, the entrances to available restrooms are locked. When you've got to go, you've got to go, but where? Some guys may make use of the outdoors, but I prefer something a bit more domestic.

Misses News when late

Editor:

It has come to the attention of some of us who are early on campus (by choice, chance or design) that The Daily Eastern News is arriving like the sunset: a little later each day.

Once upon a time, the News was in the Union hallway in front of Hardee's around 7:15 a.m. Hence, some prospectors investigate this site, out of habit or curiosity, at that time. Now we patiently wait; March 7, the News hadn't arrived at 7:50 a.m., but a waiting crowd had.

This letter would not have been written, or will be considered as retracted, if the News is under some burden. But no mention of technical problems, equipment failure or paper shortage has been noticed. Therefore, this is considered as a case of "pilot error" on the News' part.

Perhaps you spoiled us by being early at one time. Is it really that hard to give those, habituated by the earlier News' standard, a chance to know the News before 8 a.m.?

Best wishes on your speedy recovery. Hope the doctor will let us see you sooner, soon.

Leprechauns never buy their own whiskey

(Editor's note: The following story is an "authentic" account of the author's experiences last St. Patrick's Day.)

"Horb, are ye sur' ye are not Irish?" Pat asked for the 15th time.

"Everybody's Irish on St. Patrick's Day!" I screamed while raising my glass into the air.

"Exactlee! Now be a good lad and buy Sean and me another drink."

What the hell! Why not buy the little guys a drink? They're just figments of my drunk and raving mind—a mere hallucination, right?

Sean and Pat can't be sitting next to me at Roc's, leprechauns don't really exist! I'm probably asleep in an alley somewhere in Charleston. All these leprechaun illusions are originating from all those worthless dorm rats singing "My Wild Irish Rose" off-key.

So, relinquishing all hopes of regaining reality, I ordered another round of drinks even though my head was still spinning from the Bushmills I'd been drinking ever since I ran into these leprechauns.

Normally, I would not be drinking blended whiskey. I'm a bourbon man from way back. But two drunken leprechauns can charm the collar off a priest if you let them. And, because I had offended them earlier by offering to buy them some green beer, I felt the least I could do was drink Bushmills whiskey and chat with them.

"Servin' cold green beer on St. Patrick's Day 'tis a regular disgrace it 'tis!" Pat said while precariously balancing himself on his bar stool.

"Indeed O'Pat! 'Tis a slur on the customs of the old country," Sean said as he shook his shillelagh in protest.

Being only one-sixteenth Irish—and knowing better than

Personal file:

to question an Irishman's expertise on the etiquette of drinking beer—I didn't take the matter any further.

By the end of the night, I still had not found out why Pat and Sean were "pub crawling" in Charleston. They muttered something about "searching for a worthee Irishman who would receive a pot of gould."

Personally, I didn't believe a word of it.

Then again, Pat didn't believe I was only one-sixteenth Irish.

But it didn't matter what nationality I was—people of all nationalities were enjoying themselves in the bar that night. On that night, all of them were Irish. Everyone claimed to have kissed the Blarney Stone.

Yet, I was the only one who had a wee bit of Ireland sitting by and digging into my pocket.

"Horb, we need another."

Damn, those leprechauns can drink.

I don't know when they finally left. Maybe they left after the fourth chorus of "When Irish Eyes are Smilin'."

By the time I was ready to head home I had almost convinced myself their presence had been an illusion. It was then that I discovered that my shoelaces were tied to the bar rail in little knots.

Smiling to myself, I called the bartender over. "Oh bartender, how about another Bushmill—and could I borrow a pair of scissors?"

AB to hear FY 84 requests

The Apportionment Board Thursday will hear the University Board and student government's fiscal year 1984 budget requests.

Financial Vice President John Cole said the UB will ask for the same amount of student activity fee money as the board received last year. However, student government will ask for additional funds since the Off-Campus Student Housing Association budget will be under student government jurisdiction.

In other business, the AB will continue deliberations on the Sports and Recreation budget.

David Dutler, Sports and Recreation Board adviser, presented the AB last week with its FY 84 budget. The budget requests an increase of $6,460.57 from Sports and Recreation's FY 83.

Also, the board will begin deliberations on WELH Board's budget request, Cole said.

The AB will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola Room.

New cheerleaders chosen

by Vicki Vass

Members of next year's football and basketball cheerleading squad have been selected, cheerleading adviser Dorothe Johnson said.

Johnson said 10 women and five men were chosen for the 1983-84 squad.

The new male cheerleaders are sophomores Terry Deischer and Bill Teachmiller, juniors Ken Sjorsler and Jim Wolff and senior John Walen.

"Five more men will be added later," Johnson said.

She said the new squad will begin practices this semester, although they will not begin cheering at games until the beginning of the next football season.

Johnson said the candidates were judged on their entrance to the floor, enthusiasm, confidence, eye contact, voice and clarity and coordination.

The judging team consisted of 10 members of the faculty and staff and former cheerleaders.

Council schedules lecture on abortion

The history of abortion will be discussed Thursday by a member of the Illinois National Abortion Rights Action League.

"The abortion issue has not been in the public eye very long and the history of women's experiences and attitudes is not known to many people," Esther Patt, co-founder of the Champaign County Abortion Rights Coalition (a NARAL affiliate), said.

Patt's lecture is sponsored by the Women's Studies Council as a part of Women's History and Awareness Month.

The lecture is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Union ballroom.

Geologist to tell of experiences

Bill Bandy, an exploration geologist for Marathon Oil Company, will share his research experiences Thursday.

Alan Baharlou, geology department chairman, said Bandy will deliver a speech titled "Carbonate Petrology."

Bandy, who received his bachelor's degree from Eastern, "will talk about what it takes to be an exploration geologist," Baharlou said.

Bandy earned a master's degree at Indiana University, he added.

Bandy will speak at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Physical Science Building room 332.

"It could vary from 15 or 16 (staff members) at a 2 percent cut, to 40 staff members at the 8 percent level."

Ayers said the possible program cuts could occur in the area of adult education and in Chicago State's School of Business Administration.

However, Ayers said he is "an optimist. I'm hopeful they (further cuts) do not occur."

Northeastern Illinois University Director of University Relations Richard Katschke said Northeastern's contingency plans "are being handled as a confidential document."

"We consider this as nothing more than an exercise," Katschke said, although he conceded there was a "remote" possibility that contingency plans would have to be implemented.

However, BOG schools' contingency plans may have to be implemented if Gov. Jim Thompson's proposed tax package is not approved by state lawmakers.

In his State of the State Address in February, Thompson proposed the tax increase package to help alleviate funding problems in higher education.

"I expect the legislature will vote for increased revenue," Malpass said. "But it's anybody's guess."

sion. "We clashed over information on that lease issue, and there have been some cases in the past where we had disagreements on whether we were being given all the information," Beusch said.

"I feel he (Stoever) is competent, but I felt a lot of the times we were only receiving the information he wanted us to receive," Beusch said.

Stoever said it was not fair of Beusch to accuse him of presenting biased information unless he spoke of specific instances.

"I've been a professional city planner for 15 years," Stoever said. "I've done everything in my power to be professional, and when (Beusch) says I'm biased that makes me look unprofessional."

Pfeiffer added the council was especially concerned about Stoever's public criticism concerning Wickham's appointment because he had not asked them first why they were challenging the law.

"He told us he thought it was illegal, but he didn't check with us first as to what reasons we had," Pfeiffer said. "We're not lawbreakers."

Stoever can request a hearing to investigate his dismissal, but Pfeiffer said he doubted that would happen.

An article in Wednesday's Daily Eastern News incorrectly reported that Stoever did not attend the council meeting. He did attend the meeting, sitting in the back of the council room instead of taking his usual position in the front row.

Pitching keys Panthers in sweep of Indiana

by Mike Lynch

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—Kevin Gordon and Bill Morton turned in top-flight pitching efforts Wednesday to pace Eastern to a double-header trouncing of Indiana University.

Gordon, who scattered five hits and struck out seven batters, led Eastern (2-0) to an 11-2 victory over the host Hoosiers in the opener.

Trailing 6-0 in the nightcap, Morton relieved second-game starter Marshall Crutcher in the first inning to help Eastern dump Indiana 12-7. Morton allowed one run after relieving Crutcher.

Offensively, Eastern was led by second baseman Steve Hall who collected five hits on the afternoon. In addition, standout third baseman Kevin Seitzer and center fielder Troy Harper chipped in four hits each.

In its season opener, Eastern was held hitless through the first two innings, but the Panthers later rallied in the third inning to post their first run of the game.

Following a walk to freshman catcher Tim Torricelli and a sacrifice bunt by Hall, Jones singled to score Torricelli to mark a 1-0 Panther advantage.

However, the Hoosiers battled back to knot the contest on a homerun by Mike Winters in the bottom of the fourth inning.

The Panthers answered back with four runs in the top of the fifth to regain their lead at 5-1.

Hall drove in two runs on a double down the left field line and scored Bryan Dillard, who walked, and Torricelli, who reached first base on a fielder's choice.

Shortstop Brian Jones later homered to left field to complete the Panther scoring.

In the sixth inning, Hall and Jones against propelled the Panthers to increase their margin to 7-1.

Following singles by Bob Schlechte and Torricelli, Hall and Jones chipped in back-to-back singles to score the Panther base runners.

The Panthers exploded for four runs in the seventh frame, when Steve French drove in a pair of runs, and Dillard and Hall each scored a runner with singles.

Eastern head coach Tom McDevitt described Gordon's pitching performance as "awesome" Wednesday in notching the Panthers' first victory.

"He was in command the whole game," McDevitt said.

Consequently, Eastern used its pitching to rally from a 7-0 deficit with 12 unanswered runs during the last five innings to notch its second win.

Dykstra named to All-Academic squad

by Kirby Flowers

Eastern basketball standout Tim Dykstra was named Wednesday to the first Association of Mid-Continent Universities' seven-man All-Academic team.

Dykstra, a junior botany major, earned the second highest grade point average in the league, 3.78, to be the first Panther to place on an AMCU All-Academic squad.

Southwest Missouri's Anthony Boggs, a business major, posted the top GPA at 3.8. Boggs, a junior guard, averaged 12.3 points per game for the Bears.

In addition to Dykstra's fine GPA, he led Eastern's basketball team in steals with 33 and was the seventh best assist man in the conference, averaging 3.5 per contest.

The Plymouth, Ind. native was also the only player to participate in every game for the Panthers this season.

Dykstra finished the season averaging 9.7 points an outing, shooting 47 percent from the field and 72.5 percent from the charity stripe.

The University Northern Iowa was the only school to place more than one player on the All-Academic team, as the Purple Panthers' Ray Storck and Jay Block earned spots on the unit.

Stork, who averaged 11 points per game, carried a 3.7 GPA as an accounting major, while Block, a business major, holds a 3.0 GPA off the court and averages 7.4 points per contest on the court.

Other players picked for the All-Academic team were Western Illinois' Todd Hutcheson, the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay's Casey Ramm and Dave Luethy from Valparaiso University.

Hutcheson averaged 10.1 points per game for the Leathernecks and ranked eighth in the league in assists by averaging 6.2 an outing. In addition, he posted a 3.57 GPA as a pre-engineering major.

Ramm, a business major, turned in a 3.37 GPA, fifth best in the AMCU. He also averaged 7.9 points per game as a senior at Green Bay.

Valparaiso's Luethy averaged 9.5 points and six rebounds per game for the Crusaders. He is a electrical engineering major and holds a 3.33 GPA in his final season at Valparaiso.

The only two Universities not represented on the conference All-Academic team were the University of Illinois-Chicago and Cleveland State.

Tennis unit nets match

By Scott Mountford

Eastern's men's tennis team posted its first victory in the Association of Mid-Continent Universities Wednesday by downing Valparaiso University 9-0 at Weller Courts.

The win marked the Panthers' fourth straight. However, Eastern head coach Carl Sexton said Wednesday's match was not as close as he had anticipated.

"This was Valpo's first match of the season," Sexton said. "With our team's advantage of seven matches under our belts and greater practice time, we were better prepared."

Eastern's No. 1 singles player, Jay Johnson started the Panthers by recording a 6-3, 6-0 victory over Valparaiso's Todd Englander.

Panther Rob Hopkins won a closely fought singles match at No. 2 as he downed Valparaiso's Skip Watson 6-4, 7-6, and Eastern was well on its way.

The Panthers registered the next four matches by scores of 6-3 or better to round out singles play Wednesday.

"We are right where we want to be," Sexton said. "I wanted to sweep this week's play, and with victories Tuesday and today, we're in good shape going into Friday's match."

Grapplers end campaign on sour note

by Rhea Nall

Despite sending three wrestlers to the national finals, Eastern's wrestling team finished its season on a low note, head coach Ron Clinton said.

Clinton said he was disappointed with his squad's 6-3 season because only Jeff Dillman achieved All-American status. Dillman became an All-American by placing eighth in the nation at 190 pounds.

"We had a really good season with the exception (that) I was a little disappointed with the way it ended up nationally," Clinton explained.

"We were hoping to get a couple more All-Americans in (Derek) Porter and (Mark) Gronowski and that was the only discouraging thing about the

However, Clinton said Dillman's effort in the National Collegiate Athletic Association Division I finals was encouraging for Eastern's program.

"He (Dillman) wrestled well, as he had been all year long," Clinton said. "It didn't surprise me at all with his performance, but as a coach you have a little higher expectations."

"He was probably capable of finishing a little higher, but we were very pleased with his effort," Clinton added.

"He wrestled very well and he didn't let down," Clinton said. "He has had a lot of national exposure and has wrestled well on the national level, but he performed when he had to."

"By getting All-American says something in itself," he continued. "He (Dillman) ended his career correctly."

Eastern recorded one of its finest victories ever this season by dumping Big Eight conference power the University of Missouri 25-14 in Columbia, Mo., Clinton said.

In addition, the Panthers left their mark in some prestigious tournaments. Eastern's most impressive showing came in the Illinois Open, when the Panthers recorded six champions and two second-place finishers.

"I was pleased with the overall effort of the kids and the contributions

Lady netters host Bradley; look to avenge indoor loss

by Kirby Flowers

Eastern's women's tennis team will face Bradley University Thursday at Lantz courts in an "interesting" match as the Panthers open their home spring schedule.

"It should be a pretty interesting match," Eastern tennis coach Chris Perry said. "We played them on March 5 (indoors) and lost 7-2, but it could have went either way."

Despite the loss Perry said she will not change her personnel when Eastern faces Bradley at 10 a.m. at Lantz courts, adding that the Panthers will try to play a different type of game against Bradley the second time around.

"The lineup will remain the same," Perry noted. "But we will try to be more aggressive this time. We want to benet rushers."

In addition, Perry said the Panthers will rely on a team effort for the most part. She also said she hopes Eastern's doubles teams will turn in a good performance.

"We don't rely on just one person because we are so close in ability," Perry explained. "But I am counting on the doubles matches to come through for us."

However, Perry said she realizes her team is still young and will improve with each match they play.

"We are a young team, and we have got a lot of skill," Perry explained. "Some times our youth shows in our shots, so we have to learn mental toughness."

The Panthers are entering Thursday's match after dropping a pair of matches last Saturday in Carbondale, Ill. Eastern fell to Southern Illinois University-Carbondale 9-0 and to Iowa State University 5-4.

"They were both tough matches for us," Perry said. "But I think the matches helped us because we learned a lot about the game last weekend."

Sutter, Cards defeat Reds

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Tito Landrum's triple and Glenn Brummer's single in the seventh inning gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 9-7 exhibition baseball victory Wednesday over Cincinnati.

The World Champion Cardinals ripped starter Mario Soto for four first-inning runs and six of their 13 hits, but John Stupor permitted a single run in the first and three more in the second.

The Reds tied it at 7-all in the seventh on Dave Concepcion's double off Bruce Sutter, but the Cards also added two runs to hang on to win.

Keith Hernandez paced the Cardinals with a double and a pair of single while Concepcion had a similar output to lead the Reds' 14-hit attack.

The victory gave St. Louis a 4-2 exhibition record, while Cincinnati fell to 1-5.

In a "B" game, Joaquin Andujar, a two game winner in last year's World Series, pitched five strong innings in a 1-0 victory over the Reds. George Hendrick sacrificed home the only run.

GCAC well represented

by Kathy Leahy

The Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference made huge strides on the national level in its first season by sending two teams to post-season basketball tournaments.

Illinois State, which finished first in the GCAC tournament, received an automatic bid last week to the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament.

In addition, second place Southern Illinois-Carbondale received an at-large bid to the National Women's Invitational Tournament.

Illinois State will face 17th ranked Kansas State in the NCAA's opening round action Saturday in Manhattan, Kan., while the Salukis will open the NWIT's first round Thursday against Memphis State in Amarillo, Texas.

"I'm delighted to see Illinois State and Southern Illinois in post-season tournaments, especially since this is our first season in existence," GCAC Commissioner Patricia Viverito said.

"A lot of bigger and more established conferences don't even have teams representing them," Viverito added. "It proves we are a strong conference and someone to contend with."

Viverito said that although two conference teams are involved in post-season tournaments, the conference will not be receiving any profits from the NCAA or the NWIT contests.

"The tournaments are set up in such a way that the NCAA and the NWIT only break even," Viverito said. "Right now they are sending teams out of their region to participate in the tournaments, which costs a lot of money."

they all put forth," Clinton said.

Although neither Porter nor Gronowski placed in the NCAA national tournament, both wrestlers led Eastern in individual victories.

Porter, who finished with a 34-6 record, was the top Eastern wrestler, while Gronowski followed with a 32-6 slate.

Dillman was third best for Eastern in the overall individual record ranks with a 24-7 mark, which included three wins at Saturday's NCAA Division I tournament.

Senior Dennis McCormick was fourth at 17-7 and Dan Sanko rounded out Eastern's top five wrestlers with a 13-7 record.

If you're tying the knot it pays to know the ropes.

It's kind of ironic, getting engaged is one of the most emotional and sentimental times of your life. But one of the first things you have to do is spend a large amount of money in an area with which you are probably rather unfamiliar: diamond rings. That's where S.A. Peck comes in. We've been in the business of importing diamonds and designing them into beautiful engagement and wedding rings for over 50 years. With this kind of experience, our knowledgeable gemologists can steer you through the confusing world of diamonds and settings, and help you pick the right one for you. Once that's done, we ease your mind even more by selling you that ring for a saving of up to 50% less than what you'd pay for the same ring elsewhere.

Send for our free 44 page catalog, full of over 300 color pictures of wedding and engagement rings, all available at up to 50% saving. It'll get those knots out of your stomach fast!
